

PUB COMPANY ON LOOK OUT FOR ESSEX LANDLORDS

Essex pub goers who have always fancied swapping sides of the bar are invited to attend an open day in Southend-on-Sea on Monday 20 April.

Admiral Taverns is hosting an event at the Golden Lion on Victoria Road, between 11am and 1pm, and the Nelson in Prittlewell, between 1.30pm and 3.30pm, to help people find out more about the pub industry and what it takes to be a landlord.

Richard Lawrence, business development manager for Admiral Taverns, will be on hand at each pub to provide information about how to get started and what support is available to both industry newcomers and people who already have pub experience.

Richard said: "We have a number of available pubs in the region and are always on the lookout for people who are interested in running their own pub business.

"Being a landlord is a lifestyle choice as much as it is a chance to become your own boss, and having the right personality and attitude is crucial. Experience isn't necessary. Having the drive and stamina to run a pub well is most important.

"I am looking forward to meeting potential licensees at the Golden Lion and the Nelson, and talking through the options available to them."

Anyone interested in running a pub can visit the Golden Lion, 289 Victoria Road, Southend-on-Sea, SS2 6NE on Monday 20 April between 11am and 1pm or the Nelson, North Road, Prittlewell, Southend-on-Sea, SS0 7AB between 1.30pm and 3.30pm. More information is available on the website www.admiraltaverns.com.
